

Accessibility Research Assignment

Design:

The main design for the page will be the same as the home page of the Roku App. It will feature all three mediums of entertainment, Movies, TV, and Music. The page includes the main nav on the left side in order to keep it in view and out of the way at all times.

-Accessibility:

- add a captions option instead of just subtitles. This slight change makes the quality better because captions describe things that are not said (ex, birds chirping, piano playing) as well as whatever is said.
- along with the captions, you can add an audio description to describe what is happening within the scene for people who want more description.
- some broader fixes to content could be to not include high frequency flashing content in the movies or TV sections.
- smaller details can include using high contrasts throughout the website, as well as not using patterned backgrounds.

Development:

To create the website, I will use the shell of my portfolio project because it has a similar layout. I will then change up some aspects using HTML and SCSS to make it look like the design render
